FOR CONTINUATION OF WAR

Soldiers & Workmen's Delegates Declare Against Separate Peace.

(Associated Press)

The Germans last night attacked British positions in the region of Bullecourt, but were repulsed. However, they forced the British advance posts in the northwestern part of the village back a short distance.

The Germans also attacked French on an extended front but were repulsed except in one instance, where they gained a foothold in an advanced trench.

Changes in French Staff.

Gen. Petain was appointed commander in chief of the French armies on the French front at a meeting of the cabinet today. Gen. Nivelle has been placed in command of a group of armies and Gen. Foch, who played an important part in the battles of Marne and Yser, succeeds Petain as chief of staff to the ministry of war.

Good News From Russia.

In a manifesto to the Russian army the council of Soldiers & Workmen's delegates today urged the continuation of the war and declared separate peace impossible.

To Stick To Task.

Although beset by innumerable difficulties the provisional government of Russia is determined to stick to its task and will endeavor to amalgamate diverse interests which have made efficient government in Russia impossible.

It expressed confidence that the country will be saved if various representatives of the new democracy take proper part in the responsible task of government. The council of Soldiers & Workmen's delegates are apparently becoming increasingly willing to consider participation in the formation of a coalition government. It has appointed a commission to negotiate with the provisional government.

No More Zeppelins.

It is reported employees at Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen have been ordered to join the army and it

COURT MARTIAL FOR MILITIAMEN

Three Members of Sterling Co. Failed To Return To Camp.

Albert Zbinden, John Welker and Thomas Walker, members of Co. E of Sterling, are in jail there for failure to return to camp at Rock Island at the expiration of a 3-day furlough Saturday night. They were arrested by Chief of Police Haglock at the instigation of Capt. Wahl of the company, who ordered them held until he sent for them. The boys will doubtless be court martialed.

Sergeant Roy Smith Denies Canard
Concerning Co. G. Former Mess Officer

(By Sergt. Roy L. Smith) Rock Island, May 14—It has been reported about Dixon by one of the returned members of Co. G that a large sum of money from our mess fund has been misappropriated by our former mess sergeant, who is now our First Sergeant A. C. Handell. In the name of Co. G and the National Guard of the United States I wish to brand this rumor as a base and malignant falsehood, as Sergt. Handell is a true soldier and gentleman and a model officer.

Capt. Soper now has on deposit in a Rock Island bank a check from the Central Supply Department for $243 which is the surplus from our mess allowance that is said to have been stolen in the false stories being told. Any person who is informed on the channels through which all military documents have to go knows how impossible such a theft would be, and the party who circulates such a report should receive a year in Fort Leavenworth as a just punishment for his slander.

Elmer Grant of Dixon paid the boys a short visit yesterday and pre-

$62,100 FOR COLONY
FROM LEGISLATURE

COMMITTEE GIVES O. K. TO
AMOUNT ASKED FOR IMPROVEMENTS

NO NEW BUILDINGS THIS YEAR

(Special to the Telegraph)

Springfield, May 15—The legislature today put its O. K. on the appropriations for the state epileptic colony at Dixon, the amount appropriated being $62,100. This does not include the salaries of officials or expenses of the institution, which amounted to over $100,000 last year. The amount appropriated for salaries and wages alone for the next two years is $73,000.

The immediate appropriation will be used for improving the light and power plant, wiring and lighting of interiors of buildings, a subway under the Illinois Central railway from the power house to the septic tank for roads and gutter, cement walks, grading, steam, water, sewer and electric connections, entrance gates, barns and sheds.

The colony asked for ten new buildings, five for men and an equal number for men, but the Appropriation Committee refused to approve them, recommending them for next year when material will not be so high it is believed.

SHORT COUNCIL MEETING

This morning's meeting of the city council was devoid of unusual features, the approval of the semi-monthly labor bills being the most important transaction. George Netiz was given permission to erect an electric sign in front of his garage.

MOVING OFFICES.

County Judge John B. Crabtree and Joe Valle have moved their offices from the Loftus and Dixon National bank buildings, respectively, to rooms in the new Flannigan building on Galena avenue; when they are settled they will have commodious and pleasant quarters.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR TONIGHT

A stated convocation of Dixon Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, for business and work, will be held at 7:30 this evening. The Telegraph last evening wrongfully announced this meeting as being of Friendship lodge.

Dr. T. F. Dornblaser of Amboy was here today on professional business.

JOSEPH H. CHOATE DIED VERY SUDDENLY

FORMER AMBASSADOR TO GREAT BRITAIN VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE.

WAS INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS

As Ambassador To England He Was Signally Honored By British.

(Associated Press)

New York, May 15—Rufus Hodges Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain and a lawyer of international fame, died suddenly of heart disease at his home last night. "I am feeling very ill and I think this is the end," he said to his wife, and a few minutes later he died.

Mr. Choate was 85 years old, a life time during which he was one of the most distinguished lawyers in the United States, ambassador to England with signal success, a speaker of note and finally, a remarkable octogenarian.

He came from an old New England family noted for strength of character and mental vigor. His father was a cousin of the famous Rufus Choate. He was graduated from Harvard in 1852, a college mate of Phillips Brooks. He established himself in New York in 1856 soon after finishing his law studies and as a member of the firm of Everts, Southmayd and Choate he rose to leadership of the New York Bar.

NO CLEW TO THIEF WHO ROBBED STORES

POLICE UNABLE TO LEARN IDEN-TITY OF MAN WHO GOT CAM-ERA AND CHANGE.

The police have been unable, thus far, to obtain a clew to the thieves who entered the Campbell & Son drug store and the Duis & Vaile bowling alleys Saturday night, securing change from each place, but there are grounds for the belief that suspicion which has been attached to a certain Dixon young man may be verified.

Entrance to the drug store was gained by removing a board from the temporary wall that has been built at the rear of the store during the erection of the addition to the store, and about $4 in change and a $17 camera were taken.

It is believed the thief hid himself in the basement of the bowling alley before the place was closed and came out after the proprietors had gone home. $1 in change was stolen there.

MUST PAY HOSPITAL FEES IN ADVANCE

BOARD OF DIRECTORS ORDERS A CHANGE IN MANNER OF COL-LECTING COSTS.

The reports of the treasurer of the Dixon hospital for the months of March and April show that the increased cost of provisions and supplies has made it impossible to maintain the hospital under existing conditions, except at a loss greater than it is possible to sustain. The board of directors, although considering an increase in rate, has concluded that the raise can be avoided if patients entering the hospital are required to pay in advance, so there may be no loss from uncollectable accounts and they believe such a course would be justifiable and equitable to all concerned.

The superintendent has accordingly been instructed to require payments at least weekly in advance from all patients entering the institution except in such cases of emergency or urgency where some other course seems proper or necessary.

PREACHER HELD FOR AX MURDERS

Rev. Lynn G. J. Kelly Indicted for Slaying Seven.

CRIME HORRIFIED ALL IOWA

Des Moines, Ia., May 15.—The Rev. Lynn George J. Kelly, itinerant Presbyterian minister, surrendered to the authorities at Red Oak, Ia., where he is under indictment on the charge of murder in the first degree.

Kelly is accused of killing Joe Moore, of Villisca, Ia., Mrs. Joe Moore, three children of the Moore family and two young women guests of the household on the night of May 9, 1912, at Villisca.

The Moore family and the guests were hacked to death with an ax while they slept. Kelly, it is charged, was a guest of the family on the night of the murder and left town at 3:30 a. m. He is alleged to have told details of the murder at Macedonia, Ia., where he was then preaching, before the bodies had been discovered in Villisca, fifty miles away.

Kept on Preaching After Crime.

Kelly left Macedonia shortly after the murder, and preached at Carroll, Ia., for some time. He then went to Sioux Falls, S. D., where he preached and was arrested by the federal authorities on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails to women acquaintances. He was found guilty but was consigned to the federal hospital for detention of criminally insane at Washington, where he spent some time and was later released.

Since that time he has held charges in Sutton, Neb., and lately has been located at Alto Pass, Ill., and St. Louis.

Kept Iowa in Turmoil.

The Moore ax murder has kept Iowa in turmoil for two years because of efforts of Burns detectives to prove that ex-Senator F. E. Jones, a member of the state board of education, instigated the crime.

Attorney General H. M. Haynor gave out a statement in connection with the arrest, including the following statement:

"Witnesses testify that shortly after Kelly went to Carroll, Ia., he advertised for a class in stenography and tried to get young girls to pose in the nude. After he left Carroll, sometime in 1912, he went to Winners, S. D. While at at Winners he did preaching and evangelistic work and also stenographic work.

Sought Ruin of Girls.

"He then ran an ad in the Omaha World Herald seeking to employ a stenographer to act as a model for pictures to be used in a book which he was writing. A young lady in Council Bluffs answered the ad and Kelly answered her letter. He told her that whatever transpired between them should be absolutely secret. He sought to have her pose in the nude for him and asked her whether she would be willing to try it out all the way through, saying whoever he got to work for him would have to be willing to take any pose he desired and do it exactly as he wished."

The young woman turned this letter over to her pastor, who reported the matter to federal authorities. Other letters of a similar nature were obtained in decoys and Kelly was arrested.

Tried Revolting Crimes on Men.

Haynor's statement continues: "Kelly was taken from Winner to Sioux Falls, where he was placed in jail. While in jail in Sioux Falls he was guilty of a number of revoltingly immoral acts attempted on fellow prisoners."

Merchant Ships.

Washington, May 15—All appropriation records of congress were broken today when the senate appropriation committee reported the war, army and navy deficiency bill carrying $3,391,000,000. It adds $561,000,000 to the house bill.

The senate and house conferees on the army bill have agreed to report the measure with the provision authorizing the president to raise a volunteer division which Roosevelt desires to lead to France. No other changes have been made in the bill by the conferees.

An appropriation of $750,000,000, of which nearly $400,000,000 will be immediately available for the federal purchase and construction of merchant vessels was agreed upon today by the senate appropriation committee.

Legislation authorizing the government to take over necessary ship building facilities was also approved.

The Rock River Valley Ministerial Association met Monday in the First Baptist church of this city with thirty-five present, including ministers, their wives and a few visitors. The theme of the addresses given was the Protestant Reformation, which had its beginning 400 years ago. Dr. F. D. Altman, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city, had as the topic of the very excellent paper he gave, "Martin Luther and the Reformation." Rev. Dr. Bleckenbach of Oregon told of the "Present Day Effects of the Protestant Reformation" at the afternoon session. Open discussion followed both papers. The noon meal was taken at Hotel Sheffield, Grand Detour. Ministers were present from Morrison, Sterling, Rock Falls, and Polo.

FINNS SEE FREEDOM AS RESULT OF WAR

HOPE FOR GREAT CHANGES IN THEIR LAND WITH END OF CONFLICT

FINNISH SCHOOL HOUSES NEEDED

By LOWELL MELLETT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, April 19—(By Mail)—"Kultur". That, so Jan Jansen declared, is what Finland hopes to win from this war.

But Jansen, let it be added hastily, was talking in Finnish and he didn't mean the thing which German Kultur has come to mean to everybody except the Germans. The boss of the Russian branch bank, in which Jansen is a clerk, and the bank's English interpreter explained what it meant.

Finland wants Finnish schoolhouses—with Finland's flag floating above them—filled with Finnish children learning their own language, literature and history. The Finnish people want the right to pursue their own way unmolested. They are ready to believe that the war not only will give them the right, but that, through the Russian revolution, it has already done so.

Full freedom from Russian rule is not expected; but self-government in all affairs that solely concern Finland is part of the people's demand. They wish to manage their business affairs, to continue the development of their country, their road and harbor building, for the benefit of themselves. Above all they want their nationality preserved.

Any American city or community that has its Finnish colony will understand this for in every such community the center of the people's life is Finnish Hall, an institution devoted to culture rather than hilarity. Finnish Halls keep the native language alive as far as possible, even in America. It is easy to understand the implacable attitude of the Finns at home toward Russian efforts to stamp out their mother tongue.

Finland's complaint against Russia, now happily dissolving, was only a dozen years old, said Mr. Jansen. It dated from that extra-reactionary regime which followed, and apparently regretting, the Czar's

Business Of Borden Condensed Milk Co.

The fluid milk business of Borden's Condensed Milk Co., heretofore conducted as Borden's Farm Products Div., has been taken over by the newly organized Borden's Farm Products Company, Inc., which began operation on May 1st. This means that the two branches of the business one devoted to the production and handling of condensed, evaporated and Malted milk and confectionery, the other to fluid milk, cream, buttermilk, eggs and other farm products, will be carried on as separate and distinct institutions.

The fluid milk business of Borden's Condensed Milk Co. was started in 1884 and operated up to a few years ago as a department of the parent company. More recently it was operated as a separate division. It has now grown to such a size

MYSTERY DEEPENS IN GIRLS DISAPPEARANCE

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING NEW WAS LEARNED IN SEARCH FOR
BERTHA HASSELMAN

HER MOTHER IS PROSTRATED

Authorities Ask People of Community To Search Own Property.

While her frantic mother urges friends and neighbors to renewed efforts in their search for her missing daughter, and even clairvoyants have been appealed to in an effort to find some trace of the pretty maiden, the authorities are just as much in the dark concerning the whereabouts of Miss Bertha Hasselman as when they were notified of her disappearance on Saturday morning.

Every possible clue has been followed and each has left the investigators with nothing more to work on than they knew Saturday—that the girl got out of Clifford Seybert's buying at about 11:30 Friday night and started for the porch at the home of Mrs. Maud Cheney.

Was Not Her Coat.

It has been established that the blue coat which Dr. J. W. Stephens found near the Pump Factory road on Monday afternoon was not Bertha's garment, although the owner of the coat has not been found. All yesterday and today searching parties have gone over all the territory between the Cheney home and Dixon, and have even carried their investigations to the river bank and territory east and west of this city.

It is urged by Sheriff Phillips and Commissioner Van Bibber that all farmers search the jungles, thickets, ditches, wells, etc., on their farms, and that owners of property in the city look in such places as would furnish concealment for a body.

Clairvoyants No Help.

Clairvoyants at DeKalb and Davenport were appealed to yesterday in the hope that they might be able to throw some light on the girl's mysterious disappearance. But their "visions" were fanciful and could be of no value to the officers. Young Seybert was taken to DeKalb to see a medium, but except that the clairvoyant seemed to see the body in some dark place, no information was procured.

Officers are unable to evolve a theory that thoroughly fits the case. The belief that she went away voluntarily would indicate that she must have suicided, for she had no money and was not dressed for a journey. If she suicided, how did she accomplish her self-destruction, and where is her body? If she met foul play, at whose hands has she suffered? These are the questions the officers face and the solution of which they have found impossible.

Girls! Use Lemons!
Make a Bleaching,
Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of the skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

HENRY CLEWS ON ECONOMY.

Henry Clews, of New York, in his weekly financial letter, says in part: Finance, industry, trade and transportation are each under the influence of war more than at any time since the tragic struggle in Europe began. Congress is almost overwhelmed with the crush of new legislation, which threatens much that will prove experimental and require revision. The administration is also overtaxed with extraordinary demands and innumerable big problems, requiring the highest order of statesmanship. Our task of preparation is a huge one, and occasional blunders must be expected, but rapid progress is being made and patience and self-sacrifice should be practiced on both sides. The spirit of patriotism and co-operation is growing in all directions and aiding the government in every way. Just now we are in the midst of a transition period when confusion is at its maximum. Within a few weeks the new methods of organizations will be working smoothly and gradually the nation will settle down to a more normal state as it becomes accustomed to new conditions. There is no reason to view the future with misgivings. All we need is confidence and energetic action. Our entry into the war will doubtless insure two things: an earlier ending and a successful ending, although we must not fail to prepare for a longer and more intense effort than commonly realized. Nothing will hasten peace more than demonstrating to Germany the utter uselessness of continuing the war by showing the German people that this country is resolved to use its vast power and resources to the limit in support of the allies. Primarily this is a war of democracy against autocracy, but it is also a war against war, and its vigorous prosecution will make for early and permanent peace.

At present no immediate relief is in sight against the high cost of living, and profits will be affected by the new tax bill, taxes being especially pressed in this direction. The result will be to enforce economy among the consumers. Intelligent economy is an important problem of the day. An indiscriminate stoppage of buying by all consumers would be harmful and is unnecessary. Economy must come from the stoppage of waste and extravagance, accompanied by increase of production wherever possible, not to speak of giving employment to those usually idle. Our food situation is aggravated by an unsatisfactory crop outlook. The world's cereal crops of the last harvest proved 12½% below the average of the past five years and had it not been for the liberal surplus in this country left from two big crops, conditions would be more serious. Our winter wheat crop is poor and 12,437,000 acres have been abandoned. With fine weather this status will improve and damage reports have undoubtedly been used for all they are worth. At the same time a large spring wheat crop will tend to offset winter wheat loss. In any event, wheat about $3 a bushel, against $1 before the war seems to have more than discounted an unsatisfactory crop situation.

General trade shows a slowing down tendency. New enterprises have received a check owing to the necessities of war finances, and the excessive cost of production will induce a cautious spirit among manufacturers and bankers, especially the latter, who are exercising more discrimination in the granting of credit. The money outlook is satisfactory, our banks are strong, funds are plentiful, rates reasonable and gold is still coming this way, over $48,000,000 having arrived this week. The latter importations are attributed to operations of the British government to keep down interest rates and facilitate exchange movements. Uncertainty as to tax legislation materially checked business, but this is temporary and before long increased activity must be expected in such industries as are directly stimulated by the war. The steel industry continues very active as proved by the accumulation of over 12,000,000 tons of unfilled orders by the U. S. Steel Corporation, a new high record.

BOOZE VS. BREAD.

The Senate of the United States has fallen short in its duty to the people of this nation in its failure to prohibit the use of grain and cereals in the manufacture of liquor during the war. The grain is sorely needed. Perhaps, before the war is over, it will be desperately needed and still members of the United States Senate voted to strike out the Cummins amendment and allow the distilleries to continue to use up grain for whiskey when that grain might be made into bread and keep hungry little children from starving or keep soldiers alive in the trenches. Either the Senate is not alive to its responsibility or the people's trust has been misplaced.

Listen, my children, and you shall hear. Of the great Ford ride of Willard, the dear.

"Twas up through Second and down the ravine— (We were both scared stiff, so we couldn't scream) Up the curb and over the walk (We caused the neighbors lots of talk) The wind blew up our little ocat sleeve— It had to go somewhere, 'cause we couldn't breathe. Well, you know, Willard he stepped on the clutch; Did it stop that Ford? Well I guess not much. Well, we and the Ford plunged down below; What passed by us we did not know. At the bottom we got out and were ready to depart, But the darned old Ford was a two-wheeled cart. So Willie and I, we just surmise That we learned a lesson by that surprise.

FINNISH SEES FREEDOM AS RESULT OF WAR

concessions to the people in 1905, sought to upset all the benefits granted Finland. Since that time, Jansen declared, Russian governors sent to govern Finland have devoted themselves largely to the difficult task of stamping out the identity of the Finns as separate people.

"Von Seyn concentrated on the job of making Russian moujiks out of the Finns," he said.

"The Finns are a peaceful, patient people. It is hard to see what the old regime feared from them. Possibly it was simply a way of extorting more money; thirty million marks has been taken annually for the imperial government in recent years, part of this being spent in the maintenance of Russian officials and troops in Finland."

Finland, if all goes well with the war from this time forth, stands to gain a great deal at comparatively small sacrifice. It will have its autonomy assured without ever having put a soldier in the field.

But the Finns have felt bitter, nevertheless. The men have not been slaughtered, the women and children have not been brutally mistreated. Only their language, their literature and their cherished institutions have been put to the sword. The murder has not been complete, however, and probably never would have been. The Finns accepting such suppression outwardly probably would have continued secretly their loyalty to their own for many generations to come, had not the war unnecessary.

RESTRICTIONS WILL CONTINUE

No Dealing in Future in Grain Until Further Notice.

(Associated Press)

Chicago, May 15—Curtalement of speculation ordered yesterday resulted in further price recessions during early trading today. July wheat sold off 11 cents and September 8 cents. Representatives of the leading grain exchanges of the country at a meeting here today recommended that the restrictive legislation of yesterday be continued until further notice. The local board took this action today.

KAISER STRIPS RUSSIAN FRONT

is believed the construction of Zeppelins will cease. A large airplane factory near Berlin was destroyed by fire recently.

When Belgian and German lines were separated by miles of flooded lands recently bombing expeditions were carried on from skiffs in the darkness.

London, May 15.—Official news came from Petrograd that Hindenburg already has sent forty divisions—800,000 men—from the eastern front to the west to check the Entente drive.

Upon the heels of this news came dispatches from the front giving authoritative figures as to German losses in the vain counter thrusts against the French and British. Correspondents at British headquarters, taking advantage of a new lull in the fighting, telegraphed totals compiled from authoritative quarters, showing unprecedented casualties on the German side.

Lose 200,000 in Two Weeks.

Between April 16 and May 1 these figures show, the Teutons lost in killed, wounded and captured 200,000 men on the French front alone. This makes an average of more than 500 men killed every hour in sixteen days. In the last two weeks, it is asserted, the German losses were even greater.

Nearly 50,000 prisoners were taken by the French and British between April 9 and May 12, the exact figure being 49,579, including 976 officers.

To fill these terrible gaps slashed in this line, Hindenburg is throwing more and more divisions from the east into the western battle, relying upon the disorganization of the Russian army to eliminate it as an offensive factor.

Arras Battle on Sixth Week.

The battle of Arras has entered its sixth week. The last twenty-four hours saw a lull in the infantry fighting on both sides, with a corresponding increase in the artillery activity. The Australians bit themselves further into the ruins of Bullecourt, leaving only two posts in German hands, in the northern and southern part of the village. To these the Germans are clinging with despair driven tenacity.

New headway also was made by the British in the battered hamlet of Roeux, in the center of the Oppy line which fronts the Wotan position.

On the Franco-German front the Teutons launched new massed counter attacks in all the vital sectors of the Aisne-Champagne line without, however, regaining any ground. "The enemy," says the French official report, "suffered heavy losses and left prisoners in our hands."

Berlin Says British Fail.

Berlin again reports the failure of British attacks which are described as "isolated." The Germans are retaining the ruins of Bullecourt.

The senate voted to insist upon its amendments being accepted when the bill goes to conference with house members.

GRAIN FUTURE TRADE HALTED

Chicago Board of Trade Takes Drastic Action.

BIG DEALERS IN CONFERENCE

Senate Votes Down Amendment to Espionage Bill to Close Boards of Trade—Senator Thomas Declares
Nationwide Demand Is Made for Drastic Federal Action.

Washington, May 15.—By a vote of 49 to 24 the senate rejected an amendment to Gregory espionage bill, which would close down boards of trade, chambers of commerce, stock exchanges or other bodies "engaged in, or permitting speculation in food products." The amendment was offered by Senator Thomas, Colorado, and will be taken up as a separate measure later.

Suspension during the war of all stock exchanges, boards of trade and chambers of commerce which permit speculation in futures on foodstuffs, was proposed by the Thomas amendment.

Senator Thomas said he had received scores of demands from the general public that gambling in necessities of life during the war be stopped by congress. He cited the recent soaring of May and July wheat futures in the Chicago market to show the need of immediate action by congress to stop "food gambling."

Allies Ask 600,000 Bushels.
During the food debate Senator Gronna declared the allies had called on the United States to furnish 600,000 bushels of grain this year. He did not state the source of his information on the senate floor, but privately to senators he established its authenticity.

Chicago Board Halts Grain Trading.
Chicago, May 15.—The Chicago Board of Trade took drastic action to put a stop to rising grain prices by adopting resolutions forbidding further trading in May corn and May oats and new deals for two days in July or September wheat.

Following the action of the board of trade in putting a temporary curb on speculation in grain futures, representatives of the council of grain exchanges from the leading cities of the middle west met in Chicago to frame uniform action by the different exchanges throughout the country.

According to reports it is likely that actual prohibition of the trading in grain futures which at present applies for only two days will be ordered, and that it will remain in force "until further notice."

Among the cities which are represented at the meeting of the council of grain exchanges are Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth, Toledo, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha.

Grain Prices Drop.
The result of the board's action was to put a stop, at least for two days, to all speculative trading in grain on the board, except in July and September corn and oats.

July and September wheat fell off sharply, losing 20 and 18 cents from Saturday's closing price, up to noon, July rallying slightly at the close. Both corn and oats, July and September, gained, the former approximately 8 cents, the latter 2 cents.

July Wheat Drops to $2.55.
July wheat closed Saturday at $2.75, opened Monday at $2.72, dropped to $2.55 at noon, and rallied to $2.59 at the close. September closed Saturday at $2.46, opened 2 cents lower, and closed at $2.28, the low mark of the day.

July corn closed at $1.56 1/2 and $1.56; against a Saturday closing of $1.49 1/2. September closed at $1.50 and $1.50 1/2, against $1.52 Saturday.

Oats, for July futures, closed at 68 1/2 cents, against a 67 1/2 cent closing Saturday. September closed at 60 1/4 @ 60 cents, against 58 cents Saturday.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY
DESPONDENT?

While there are women who seem almost despondent and depressed and suffering misfortune, that is not woman's natural condition. Such unfortunate suffer from ill-health. An abnormal condition of the system expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backache, headaches and despondency.

If all ailing women would make faithful use of that grand remedy for women's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, there would be little occasion to ask if despondency is natural to woman.

KAZAN

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER III—Kazan knows that McCready is a murderer. McCready stealthily caresses Isobel's hair and Kazan attacks him. Thorpe whips Kazan. McCready tries to murder Thorpe and attacks Isobel. Kazan kills him and then, fearing the club in punishment, runs away into the forest.

CHAPTER IV—Torn between love of his mistress, the fear of his master's club and the desire of the wolf nature in him, he at length sends forth the wolf cry.

CHAPTER V—Kazan runs with the wolves, fights their leader, becomes master of the pack, and mates with Gray Wolf.

CHAPTER VI—Kazan and the pack attack Pierre Radisson, his daughter Joan and her baby, but in the battle Kazan turns dog again and helps drive off the wolves.

CHAPTER X.

The Great Change.

The rocks, the ridges and the valleys were taking on a warmer glow. The poplar buds were ready to burst. The scent of balsam and of spruce grew heavier in the air each day, and all through the wilderness, in plain and forest, there was the rippling murmur of the spring floods finding their way to Hudson's bay. In that great bay there was the rumble and crash of the ice fields thundering down in the early break-up through the Rocks Welcome—the doorway to the Arctic, and for that reason there still came with the April wind an occasional sharp breath of winter.

Kazan had sheltered himself against that wind. Not a breath of air stirred in the sunny spot the wolf-dog had chosen for himself. He was more comfortable than he had been at any time during the six months of terrible winter—and as he slept he dreamed.

Gray Wolf, his wild mate, lay near him, flat on her belly, her forepaws reaching out, her eyes and nostrils as keen and alert as the smell of man could make them. For there was that smell of man, as well as of balsam and spruce, in the warm spring air. She gazed anxiously and sometimes steadily, at Kazan as he slept. Her own gray spine stiffened when she saw the tawny hair along Kazan's back bristle at some dream vision. She whined softly as his upper lip snarled back, showing his long, white fangs. But, for the most part, Kazan lay quiet, save for the muscular twitchings of legs, shoulders and muzzle, which always tell when a dog is dreaming; and as he dreamed there came to the door of the cabin out on the plain a blue-eyed girl-woman, with a big brown braid over her shoulder, who called through the cup of her hands, "Kazan, Kazan, Kazan!"

The voice reached faintly to the top of the Sun rock, and Gray Wolf flattened her ears. Kazan stirred, and in another instant he was awake and on his feet. He leaped to an outcropping ledge, sniffing the air and looking far out over the plain that lay below them. Over the plain the woman's voice came to them again, and Kazan ran to the edge of the rock and whined. Gray Wolf stepped softly to his side and laid her muzzle on his shoulder. She had grown to know what the voice meant. Day and night she feared it more than she feared the scent of sound of man.

Since she had given up the pack and her old life for Kazan, the voice had become Gray Wolf's greatest enemy and she hated it. It took Kazan from her. And wherever it went, Kazan followed.

Night after night it robbed her of her mate, and left her to wander alone under the stars and the moon, keeping faithfully to her loneliness, and never once responding with her own tongue to the hunt-calls of her wild brothers and sisters in the forests and out on the plains. Usually she would snarl at the voice, and sometimes nip Kazan lightly to show her displeasure. But today, as the voice came a third time she slunk back into the darkness of a fissure between two rocks, and Kazan saw only the fiery glow of her eyes.

Kazan ran nervously to the trail their feet had worn up to the top of the Sun rock, and stood undecided. All day, and yesterday, he had been uneasy and disturbed. Whatever it was that stirred him seemed to be in the air, for he could not see it or hear it or scent it. But he could feel it. He went to the fissure and sniffed at Gray Wolf. Usually she whined coaxingly. But her response today was to draw back her lips until he could see her white fangs.

A fourth time the voice came to them faintly, and she snarled fiercely at some unseen thing in the darkness between the two rocks. Kazan went again to the trail, still hesitating. Then he began to go down. It was a narrow, winding trail, worn only by the pads and claws of animals, for the Sun rock was a huge crag that rose almost sheer up for a hundred feet above the tops of the spruce and balsam, its bald crest catching the first gleams of the sun in the morning and the last glow of it in the evening. Gray Wolf had first led Kazan to the security of the retreat at the top of the rock.

When he reached the bottom he no longer hesitated, but darted swiftly in the direction of the cabin. Because of that instinct of the wild that was still in him, he always approached the cabin with caution. He never gave warning, and for a moment Joan was startled when she looked up from her baby and saw Kazan's shaggy head and shoulders in the open door. The baby struggled and kicked in her delight, and held out her two hands with cooing cries to Kazan. Joan, too, held out a hand.

"Kazan!" she cried softly. "Come in, Kazan!"

Slowly the wild red light in Kazan's eyes softened. He put a forefoot on the sill, and stood there, while the girl urged him again. Suddenly his legs seemed to sink a little under him, his tail drooped and he slunk in with that dogish air of having committed a crime. The creatures he loved were in the cabin, but the cabin itself he hated. He hated all cabins, for they all breathed of the club and the whip bondage. Like all the sledge-dogs, he preferred the open snow for a bed, and the spruce-tops for shelter.

Joan dropped her hand to his head, and at its touch there thrilled through him that strange joy that was his reward for leaving Gray Wolf and the wild. Slowly he raised his head until his black muzzle rested on her lap, and he closed his eyes while that wonderful little creature that mystified him so—the baby—prodded him with her tiny feet, and pulled his tawny hair. He loved these baby-makings even more than the touch of Joan's hand.

Motionless, sphinxlike, undemonstrative in every muscle of his body, Kazan stood, scarcely breathing. More than once this lack of demonstration had urged Joan's husband to war against him. But the wolf that was in Kazan, his wild aloofness, even his mating with Gray Wolf had made her love him more. She understood, and had faith in him.

In the days of the last snow Kazan had proved himself. A neighboring trapper had run over with his team, and the baby Joan had toddled up to one of the big bushes. There was a fierce snip of jaws, a scream of horror from Joan, a shout from the men as they leaped toward the pack. But Kazan was ahead of them all. In a gray streak that traveled with the speed of a bullet he was at the big husky's throat. When they pulled him off, the husky was dead. Joan thought of that now, as the baby kicked and tousled Kazan's head.

"Good old Kazan," she cried softly, putting her face down close to him. "We're glad you came, Kazan, for we're going to be alone tonight—baby and I. Daddy's gone to the post, and you must care for us while he's away." She tickled his nose with the end of her long shining braid. This always delighted the baby, for in spite of his stoicism Kazan had to sniff and sometimes to sneeze, and twirl his ears. And it pleased him, too. He loved the sweet scent of Joan's hair.

"And you'd fight for us, if you had to, wouldn't you?" she went on. Then she rose quietly. "I must close the door," she said. "I don't want you to go away again today, Kazan. You must stay with us."

Kazan went off to his corner, and lay down. Just as there had been some strange thing at the top of the Sun Rock to disturb him that day, so now there was a mystery that disturbed him in the cabin. He sniffed the air, trying to fathom its secret. Whatever it was, it seemed to make his mistress different, too. And she was digging out all sorts of odds and ends of things about the cabin, and doing them up in packages. Late that night, before she went to bed, Joan came and snuggled her hand close down beside him for a few moments.

"We're going away," she whispered, and there was a curious tremble that was almost a sob in her voice. "We're going home, Kazan. We're going away down where his people live—where they have churches, and cities, and music, and all the beautiful things in the world. And we're going to take you, Kazan!"

Kazan didn't understand. But he was happy at having the woman so near to him, and talking to him. At these times he forgot Gray Wolf. The dog that was in him surged over his quarter-strain of wildness, and the woman and the baby alone filled his world. But after Joan had gone to her bed, and all was quiet in the cabin, his old meanness returned. He rose to his feet and moved stealthily about the cabin, sniffing at the walls, the door and the things his mistress had done into packages. A low whine rose in his throat. Joan, half asleep, heard it, and murmured:

"Be quiet, Kazan. Go to sleep—go to sleep—"

Long after that, Kazan stood rigid in the center of the room, listening, trembling. And faintly he heard, far away, the wailing cry of Gray Wolf. But tonight it was not the cry of loneliness. It sent a thrill through him. He ran to the door, and whined, but Joan was deep in slumber and did not hear him. Once more he heard the cry, and only once. Then the night grew still. He crouched down near the door.

Joan found him there, still watchful, still listening, when she awoke in the early morning. She came to open the door for him, and in a moment he was gone. His feet seemed scarcely to touch the earth as he sped in the direction of the Sun Rock. Across the plain he could see the cup of it already painted with a golden glow.

He came to the narrow winding trail, and wormed his way up it swiftly.

Gray Wolf was not at the top to greet him. But he could smell her, and the scent of that other thing was strong in the air. His muscles tightened; his legs grew tense. Deep down in his chest there began the low rumble of a growl. He knew now what that strange thing was that had haunted him, and made him uneasy. It was life. Something that lived and breathed had invaded the home which he and Gray Wolf had chosen. He bared his long fangs, and a snarl of defiance drew back his lips. Stiff-legged, prepared to spring, his neck and head reaching out, he approached the two rocks between which Gray Wolf had crept the night before. She was still there. And with her was something else. After a moment the tenseness left Kazan's body. His bristling crest dropped until it lay flat. His ears shot forward, and he put his head and shoulders between the two rocks, and whined softly. And Gray Wolf whined. Slowly Kazan backed out, and faced the rising sun. Then he lay down, so that his body shielded the entrance to the chamber between the rocks.

Gray Wolf was a mother.

SAYS BUSINESS WAS THE CAUSE

Working Conditions Reason for Ill Health, Declares M. G. Harnish

Freeport, May 14.—If there is a man in Freeport who is widely known, well liked and highly respected it is M. G. Harnish, cigar salesman who resides at 165 Galena street. Mr. Harnish has been a resident of Freeport for the past thirty years and his pleasant personality and fine character has won him innumerable friends. Here is what he had to say of Tanlac on April 11:

"Owing to my business connections I was unable to eat regularly and this finally resulted in my stomach becoming in very bad condition. I had been this way for some time. My food didn't agree with me and didn't digest properly. Gas formations, belching and bloating would invariably annoy me following each meal. Muscular rheumatism bothered me and I felt 'all in' most of the time.

"Realizing that I needed a good tonic I decided to try Tanlac because it was so highly recommended. Well, sir, people are telling me that Tanlac did me a world of good and I certainly know it. I can eat anything without the distress afterwards. The rheumatism in my muscles has been relieved. In fact, I feel better in every respect. Tanlac has done me so much good that I wanted others to know about it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, loss of appetite, nervousness and the like.

Tanlac is being explained and introduced in Dixon at Campbell & Sons Drug Store.

In Franklin Grove at C. S. Ives' Drug Store.

LINER SUNK, 300 ARE SAVED

Passengers Tell of Two Large Vessels Sent to Bottom.

New York, May 15.—The British passenger steamship Medina, a 12,350-ton vessel, owned by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation company, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine April 28 when off the coast of Plymouth, according to American passengers arriving here from England.

On the same day, in almost the same locality, the Omrah, a vessel of 8,130 tons, owned by the Orient Steam Navigation company, was also torpedoed and sunk, the passengers said.

No lives were lost on either ship, but valuable cargoes went down. On the Medina were more than 300 persons, passengers and crew.

PATRIOTISM.
There is something peculiar in patriotism or real love of country. One can become eighty years old and, without knowing it, have loved his fatherland during all that time—that is, if one has remained at home. The true nature of spring is not appreciated until winter is upon us, and the best May songs are written by the fireside. Love of freedom is a prison flower, and we do not learn the full value of liberty until we are imprisoned. —Heine.

HOW SHIPPERS CAN AID RAILROADS IN WARTIME
These are a few of the things the railroads ask shippers to do as a patriotic duty:
Do not ship beyond your ability to handle promptly.
Extend your private sidetracks to keep pace with your increased business and in this way avoid the necessity of delaying cars.
Arrange the time of your shipments so they will be made uniformly when possible.
Ship at periods of the year when cars are not badly needed for moving crops.
Do everything possible to keep cars moving, so every one, railroad and shipper, can reach the maximum amount of efficiency for the nation in this great crisis.

Mother's Doll Story

The Pet Ponies

There were once upon a time two small girl friends who each had a pet pony—rag doll ponies, of course.
"Let's give our dolls a lovely ride," said one little girl to her friend.
So they dressed their dolls up in blue bloomers and pink sweaters and set them upon their rag doll ponies' backs.
They had meant, of course, to tie a string around the ponies' necks and drag them along the walk.
But the minute the ponies felt the dolls sitting on their backs they kicked up their heels and raced away across the yard, right over some new pansies and through a mud puddle.
The two girls chased them, and, after both dolls had been thrown off over the ponies' heads, the girls caught the runaways and tied them with a hard knot to a rosebush, where they had to stand all alone while the girls went into the kitchen for some nice hot gingerbread.

Scouts Will Aid Nation.
That the boy scouts will give valuable aid to the nation in their home communities during the present war, but that they will take no part whatever in any military operations, was definitely affirmed by the national council of the Boy Scouts of America at its seventh annual meeting.

It seemed more wondrous than before Because it meant vacation!

Marshal Joffre, Member French War Commission

France's war commission to this country, the official head of which is M. Rene Viviani, vice premier and minister of justice, has also as a member the republic's most illustrious soldier, Marshal Joffre. The commission came without written instructions from the French government and has full power to negotiate with the United States on all subjects.

Marshal Joffre, who is sixty-five years old, was in supreme command of the French armies when the Germans began the war. The part he has played in this great struggle is history, and his contemporaries hail him as the man who saved civilization at the battle of the Marne. Recently the title of marshal of France was revived for him. He is president of the superior council of war and is the highest military adviser of the French government.

SPADES ARE TRUMPS

"Clubs are trumps!" the soldier shouts, "I might alone win today; For over all the world of men The strength of arms holds eager sway."

"Nay, SPADES are trumps!" speaks Mother Earth, "The might you boast would soon be gone; Without the harvest that they yield To lend you strength and feed your brown."

"Diamonds are trumps!" the merchant cries, "They build your navy, ship by ship; Place guns within your soldiers' hands And give your fighters swords to grip."

"Nay, SPADES are trumps!" speaks Mother Earth, "My workers share the richest spoil; Where would your boats and armies be Without the fruitage of the soil?"

"Hearts are trumps!" the women sigh, "We give our husbands and our sons To sail your ships across the seas, To bear your flags and man your guns."

"Nay, SPADES are trumps!" speaks Mother Earth, "The runs may roar on land and sea And swords may flash and hearts may break, But SPADES shall have the victory!" —By John Kemble of the Vigilantes.

AMERICAN INVENTIONS WAGING WAR IN EUROPE

Without Them the Combatants Would Stand Naked, Unshod, Unfed and Powerless.

By AUGUSTUS THOMAS, Of the Vigilantes.

If the products of American inventions could be taken from the armies and navies now confronting each other in Europe the combatants would stand naked, unshod, unfed and powerless.

The grain that feeds them was sown, reaped, thrashed and ground by American inventions. The clothing for their vast armies was put together by American sewing machines. The cotton in it was separated by an American cotton gin. Their shoes are made by American machines.

As to the weapons, the revolver is an American invention, the breech-loading gun is an American invention, the magazine gun is an American invention. The trenchard, the revolving turret, the torpedo, are American inventions. The submarine is an American invention.

The electric light in camp and trench, the telephone that reports and takes orders, the telegraph that calls for supplies, the cable, are all American.

The barbed wire that defends the trenches, the tanks that override them, the airplane that reconnoiters and fights above them, are American inventions. And when the wounded are relieved the chloroform that makes accurate surgery possible is an American discovery. And, finally, the ambulances are motorcars from America. America has given great gifts to Europe. But she has one more gift, her greatest, yet to give. Her other gifts have been material gifts, and they have been given indiscriminately to the nations that are fighting for democracy and those who are fighting against it.

America's greatest gift to Europe is the blood of America's youth, shed for democracy.

Unless America gives MEN to Europe all her other gifts are a mockery.

MOUNTAINEERS OFFER AID.

Regiment to Be Known as Lincoln Sharpshooters Proffered.

Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial university, sent to President Wilson an appreciation of the president's message to the congress and an offer to provide a regiment of Tennessee mountaineers to be known as the Lincoln sharpshooters.

"Coming from the region made historic by the birth and military achievements of Andrew Jackson, Admiral Farragut, Sam Houston and Fighting Bob Evans, and consecrated by the activity of Abraham Lincoln, whose devotion to justice and liberty is our inspiration, we pledge our lives, our sacred honor and our all to the defense of American rights on land and sea, the supremacy of the American flag and the dignity and honor of the government of the United States," said Dr. Hill's telegram.

Frank Ward of Sterling was here Saturday evening.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyntha's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Wyntha's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

IT'S SURPRISING

That So Many Dixon People Fail to Recognize Kidney Weakness. Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges, headache, dizzy spells?

Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do. Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Don't's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. Have convinced Dixon people of their merit. Here's a Dixon case; Dixon testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it. N. W. Beal, 620 College Ave., Dixon, says: "All I said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago holds good and I am glad to confirm my statement. For a long time, I had kidney trouble and I showed itself in various ways. I had rheumatic twinges and my back was stiff and lame and when bending over, I could hardly straighten. When I was suffering intensely, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They gave me wonderful relief in a short time. I still use them occasionally, thus keeping my kidneys in good shape."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Beal had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ROCHELLE.

May 4—The Orioles will open the baseball season Sunday, May 20th, with the fast Elgin team, on the local diamond. Elgin was the only team in northern Illinois which had it on the locals, by defeating the locals twice. Rochelle won 16 and lost 4 games last season and closed with a record-breaking attendance of 1100 on Sept. 10 when Rochelle with Carlson in the box took the decisive game of the four game series from Oregon, by a 11 to 9 score.

Present indications point to an even better season with a fast line-up under contract for the season. Frank Richards has been secured to manage the team and has signed: Richards, catcher; Ryan of Elgin, catcher; Olson, away; in the opener. 2nd base; Norquist, Rockford, short stop; Bowen, Elgin, 3rd base; Cone, DeKalb, Jr. Misher, Mt. Morris, cf; Ballou, DeKalb, rf. Paddock, the Ash ton boy, who has been attending DeKalb normal, won practically all his games while pitching for Cgburn's Colts of Rockford last season, and Ryan is considered the best catcher put in the field against Rochelle. Rochelle is also after Nordman, who hurled Oregon to victory so frequently last season and was later given a tryout by the Rockford Three I league.

It will be recalled that the Orioles defeated such teams as Ogburn Colts and Maroons of Rockford; Chicago Mutuals, the White Rocks, the Calumets and the Leland Giants of Chicago, Milledgeville, Hincley and Dixon, and are sure to make a good "getter" in the opener. The officers are Frank Baker, pres.

Rochelle high school will meet Savanna township high school in a debating and oratorical contest at Savanna on Friday evening, May 25 and will be represented in debate by Leon and Whipple, Harry Peck and George Holmes; in oration by Robert Hackett, Daniel Atwater or Lloyd Flanders. Two young ladies are to be selected from a number who are practicing with Miss Bertha Eldred as coach to represent the school in declamation.

The local schools are making elaborate plans for the production of a historical pageant to be presented by school children about June 1st. The work is in charge of Miss Olive Menz, music supervisor.

The first and second grades of the Lincoln school have been doing interesting work in nature study. Last week a party went in search of frog and toad eggs. This week they are watching the tadpoles with much interest. On Tuesday all the children went to the woods to study birds' nests and hunt flowers.

They have just completed a successful study in Japan. The room has been transformed into "Little Japan" by the use of fans and lanterns used in decorating the room. Perhaps the sand table, which has been made into a Japanese tea garden and village is the center of interest for the children who have constructed small Japanese houses, jirikashas, water lilies and tiny Japanese lanterns which were used on the sand table. The garden has real water in the pond and real grass growing on the lawns. To make Japan still more vivid Supt. Wimmer secured several excellent colored slides of the industries and scenery of that beautiful country.

The children of the fourth grade are delighted to have the privilege of raising and lowering the flag each morning and afternoon.

Miss Hawbecker recently took the advanced domestic science class to Oregon where they went through the Carnation condensed milk plant.

The high school class in design made window cards to advertise the senior class plays.
